

Undisciplining the Victorian Classroom

Peer-Reviewed Assessment Publication Checklist

This checklist sets out the various elements needed for any peer-reviewed assessment to be published on the Undisciplining the Victorian Classroom (UVC) website. Once an assessment and corresponding essay are ready for publication, the UVC assessment guide will gather and provide all the elements below in the order given. While the UVC assessment guide should be able to provide some of the elements directly, they may need to work with the developer of the assessment to provide the rest. The information requested by this checklist will enable the UVC site developer to build the webpage for the assessment quickly and efficiently; the order here follows the order of items as they will appear on the actual webpage.

In a Single Word Document to be Added to the Relevant Folder in Google Docs

- 1) A 160 character maximum description of the assessment. This will not be directly visible on the webpage, but will be used for Google search results. CharacterCountOnline is handy for carrying out a quick count of characters. Please use the following example as a reference point: “Resituates Victorian literature in our present moment by teaching it through a polyphonic, global, and intersectional lens, attentive to power differentials.”
- 2) A link to an open access, high-quality image that will be placed at the head of the assessment webpage and, possibly, on the main “Peer-Reviewed Assessments” page. Note that landscape orientation for the image is highly preferred, though two vertical images to be shown side-by-side are also an option. For help finding or for any questions about such an image, please consult the UVC site developer.
- 3) Any relevant bibliographical information about the image(s) (e.g., creator, title, publication source, etc.).
- 4) The title of the assessment essay. Please keep the title to six words or less.
- 5) The name of the assessment developer as it will be presented on the webpage
- 6) The email address of the assessment developer as it will be presented on the webpage
- 7) The name of the peer reviewer
- 8) The name of the UVC assessment guide
- 9) The email address of the UVC assessment guide
- 10) The title(s) of the associated assessment essay(s)
- 11) A one-paragraph biographical statement for the assessment developer

In Zotero

- 1) If the main assessment essay cites any works and these need to go into a “Works Cited” section after the essay, please add the works to a subfolder in Zotero. In adding the works, please be sure to follow the instructions in our "House Style for Site Text and Zotero Entries." Note that works referenced in the assessment itself do not need to be added. UVC recommends that the UVC assessment guide add the Zotero entries for the essay.

In Separate Files to be Added to the Relevant Folder in Google Docs

- 1) A copy of the assessment in Word. It is necessary that this file will be in Word so that we can add the UVC peer-review stamp to the top of the first page.
- 2) A copy of the essay associated with the assessment in Word. This will normally have been developed as part of the assessment peer-review process. Note that assessment developers are strongly encouraged to keep paragraphs in the essay short because doing so will support the accessibility of the page, especially on small mobile devices. Refer to existing assessment pages on the site for examples of appropriate paragraph length. (Note: Since the assessment itself will be provided in both Word and PDF form to site visitors, paragraph length in the syllabus and assessment is not as important.) Also, in preparing this essay, please ensure that it conforms with our house style as set out in "House Style for Site Text and Zotero Entries."
- 3) An email in PDF from the assessment developer giving UVC permission to publish the assessment and associated essay. Please use the following statement as a model:
"Thanks for the opportunity to be part of the Undisciplining the Victorian Classroom project. This email is to confirm that you have my permission to release my contribution (an assessment and corresponding essay on XYZ) on the site under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International (CC BY 4.0) license (<https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by/4.0/>)."
